2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: A method or apparatus for measuring the level of a material contained in a vessel comprising steps of applying a correction factor based upon a signal-to-noise ratio determination and a slope value for a leading edge of an echo pulse, in combination with all other limitations of independent claims 1, 7, and 14, is not disclosed nor deemed obvious in view of the prior art of record. The prior art does not disclose the specific correction factor, specifically utilizing the slope edge on an echo pulse.
